Privacy Policy

The Edison Institute of Nutrition (EIN) values the privacy of all students. Personal information such as name, address, email address, and telephone number are kept on file for identity and contact purposes. Student date of birth, program enrolment, date of enrolment, photo, and credit card numbers are kept on file for verifying enrolment and processing orders. Transcripts are kept in electronic form for 30 years. All student files are confidential and are available only to the administrative staff and the student. There are rare instances where EIN may collect, use or disclose, your personal information without your consent as required and permitted by law, for example 1) to collect a debt owed to us; 2) to meet government tax reporting requirements; and 3) to comply with an order made by a court. EIN takes precautions to protect your personal information against unauthorized access.

Sexual Violence and Harassment Policy

Edison Institute of Nutrition is committed to providing an environment where all students and faculty are treated with respect and dignity. We believe that our environment should be safe and free of sexual, physical, verbal violence, abuse or harassment. EIN will not tolerate any form of violence or harassment in an EIN location, online or thorough social media venues. To report an incident or to access EIN's student support services regarding violence or harassment be it verbal, physical, written or expressed through an EIN social media site, students are asked to contact the director of the school – Lynne Hinton or Marlene Marshall at 1-800-456-9313 or info@edisoninst.com The director in conjunction with the victimized student or faculty member will determine whether to investigate the incident internally, to involve the appropriate authorities, or whether the student or faculty member solely prefers to receive information about community resources and support.

Expulsion Policy

I hereby fully understand and agree that acceptance by EIN is provisional and students may be subject to expulsion without recourse if they violate any of the terms of the contract agreement or do not meet EIN standards including:

- Edison's copyright and intellectual property of educational materials (legal action may be taken against such violations).
- Not completing the course in the established timeframe.
- Not making the necessary, established payments in a timely fashion.
- Not following Jurisprudence laws of practice.
- Failure of the same course twice.
- Cheating on a test or assignment or allowing their work to be copied.
- Dishonesty in any form, misrepresentation, plagiarism, unethical behaviour.
- Consistent tardiness, abusive language or behaviour.
- Acts of discrimination or harassment to fellow students, instructors, or administrative staff.
- If they misrepresent themselves as a practitioner while they are still a student.

Academic Probation

Academic probation is a status established to monitor a student's academic progress and assure professional competency upon graduation. A student will be placed on Academic Probation for having failed one course. Academic Probation may be lifted after passing the failed course.

Refund Policy _____ Initial Here

The application fee, assessment fee and shipping fees are non-refundable. A full refund of tuition fees, if cancellation is received in writing with 10 days from commencement of program. All unused curriculum must be returned prior to refund being issued, if applicable. A 15% restocking fee will apply to all current textbooks purchased from EIN and returned in resalable condition within 20 days from date of cancellation. A 50% refund on unused tuition fees if cancellation is received with 30 days from commencement of program. Withdrawal after 30 days results in no tuition refund.

Student Complaint Procedure

The Edison Institute of Nutrition provides an opportunity for students to resolve disputes of a serious nature in a fair and equitable manner. When a concern or dispute arises, the student should first address the concern in writing to Marlene Marshall Co Director by email: marlene@edisoninst.com or by fax 1888 466-5574. Once the complaint is received and reviewed the student will be contacted within 48 hours, the student will have the opportunity to verbally submit and discuss further information and concerns. The necessary inquiries and/or investigations shall be conducted, and the co-director will do one of the following within 10 school days:

- I. If it is determined that the student's concerns are not substantiated, Edison Institute will provide a written explanation of the decision and deny the complaint; or
 - II. If it is determined that the student's concerns are substantiated in whole or in part, the Institution will provide a written explanation and propose a resolution
 - III. If the student is not satisfied with the dispute outcome at this level, the student may meet with Lynne Hinton Co Director, at the above contact information to discuss the dispute with an outline for resolution

Acknowledgement

I fully understand and agree with all Student Enrolment policies. I fully understand and agree that all course curriculum and study materials supplied to me by Edison Institute of Nutrition (EIN) are for my own personal use only. I agree not to share this confidential information with any other person, group, company, or organization. I agree not to reproduce or transmit the whole or any part of this material by any means whatsoever, electronic or mechanical, photocopying or by any information storage and retrieval system.

I agree that there is a 3-year timeframe for completion of the Practitioner Diploma Program and a passing grade of 80% is required in all subjects. A reactivation fee will apply for a 1-year extension beyond the 3-year term. I agree to accept all financial conditions and agreements.

I clearly understand that nutrition is a science of wellness whose sole purpose is to teach me how to build and maintain nutritional well-being, both for myself and others. I also understand that the teachings or methods of nutrition are not for diagnosing disease or for providing medical advice. Should I engage in such behaviour, I do so entirely at my own risk and discretion. If medical care should be required, it is the recommendation of EIN and its authors and publishers that capable, qualified medical personnel be consulted. EIN offers its published material and curriculum for informational purposes, and I specifically relieve EIN and its authors and publishers from any responsibility for the consequences of following any of the recommendations contained in material offered by EIN.

I understand that EIN's programs are not designed to meet any national, state or local licensing or credentialing laws and that it is my responsibility to investigate this area thoroughly. I release EIN and/or its authors, publishers and instructors from any damages, claims or liabilities whatsoever, as a result of the information presented. I hereby certify the above information presented by me is true and accurate.
